MURDEROUS SOLDIER.

He Plunges His Knife Into Two Comrades, Killing One of Them Instantly.

EL RENO, I. T., May 18 .- Further advices from Fort Sill concerning the murder of Thomas Canty, at that place, Friday night, say that a crowd of soldiers had been drinking to excess. Three of the party stopped to rest under a tree a half mile from the post. While resting, two others, returning to the post, approached. Snyder. one of the three, arose and approached the two just arrived, J. M. McCue and Thomas Canly. Without speaking, he peered into their faces, and immediately plunged a knife into McCue's left side, just above the heart, but, striking a rib, it glanced, making an ugley flesh wound. Snyder then attacked Canly and plunged the knife to the hilt in Canly's heart, causing death instantly. The murderer walked back toward his party, when he saw Mc-Cue, who had returned to where the body of Canly lay, and rushed for him to finish his work, but discovering him, McCue fled and escaped. Snyder is still at large. The tragedy was evidently the outcome of an old grudge, for several persons were hailed while passing his place of concealment and examined to see if they were the party Snyder wanted.

FATE OF FRITZ EMMET.

He Will Leave the Country, Making No Defense Against a Divorce.

ALBANY, May 18.-Fritz Emmet is no longer a resident of Albany, having shaken the dust of the capital city from his feet. A short time ago his wife, Eleanor F. Emmet. embraced the Catholic faith. A few days later she directed her attorney to bring action for divorce against Mr. Emmet. The charge is that of faithlesness. To this Mr. Emmet has directed his lawyer to make no defense, and this will allow the wife to secure the desired relief.

Mr. Emmet intends to sail for Ireland next week in company with his son and an old servant, Robert McCann. Before leaving this city Mr. Emmet turned over to his wife the elegant residence he built on the boulevard, which is surrounded by twelve acres of picturesquely laid out grounds, and $150,000 in bonds.

Dramatic Meeting of Brothers Who Had Not Seen Each Other Since the War.

PITTSBURG, May 18 .- The postoffice corridor has witnessed many a curious scene, but none stranger than one which was yesterday enacted within its walls. Most Pittsburg G. A. R. men and many civilians know George T. Luttrell, of Allegheny. Although born in Raleigh, S. C., Mr. Luttrell followed the fortunes of the North during the war, and lost his right arm on the field of Antietam. He now resides in the West End with his son-in-law,

E. L. Evans, the well-known grocer, and being in comfortable circumstances, is enabled to spend his later days peacefully. Yesterday afternoon the stalwart veteran strolled into the postoffice, which happened to be full of people, and proceeded to write a note with his remaining arm at one of the desks. While thus engaged he noticed behind him a tall, swarthy man, whose long, black mustache and slouched hat had something of a Southern air. This person seemed very anxious to succeed Mr. Luttrell at the desk, all the other places being taken up. When the old soldier had carefully blotted, enveloped and directed his letter he turned away. Then the man with the big hat squared up at the desk. Scarcely had he done so than he turned sharply round and gave the departing veteran a mighty thump between the shoulders.

"I reckon your name's Luttrell?" he ex-Mr. Luttrell looked at the excitable speaker for a moment, and then, with a reminiscence of his boyhood's home, answered, "I reckon it is."

"So's mine," said the stranger, "and, blank blank it, I thought I was the only one of the name left in America." He then took a card from his pocket and presented it to his new acquaintance. The card read: "Alan C. Luttrell, Birmingham, Ala." Now it was Mr. George Luttrell's to cry out. "Alan Luttrell!" he cried

"That was the name of my father and brother. I am George T. Luttrell-"
"My God!" the Southerner exclaimed. "Were you born in South Carolina?" Of course, the old soldier was born there and, of course, this was his brother, whom he had not met since the war broke up their happy home in Raleigh, and set them on different sides of the great fight.

It was like the wind-up of a melodrama to see the two old fellows shake hands and call each other brother once again. They kept up the hand-shaking so long that spectators got interested, and then, in stentorian tones, the Southern brother told the story of the twenty-eight years' parting and the strange reunion. "I never saw him since before the war, sir," he said, "until this blanked bit of blotting-paper"—here he held up the paper on which the veteran had blotted his letter—"told me that his name was Luttrell. And from that we found out the rest. I'll keep that paper till I die."
And then the two old boys trotted out to celebrate the great event in a stiff jorum.

A MOST REMARKABLE SCENE.

A Woman Steps from the Coffin at Her Funeral and Soon Afterwards Falls Dead.

NEWPORT, Ky., May 18 .- Mrs. Jacob Korb. of Kenton county, died on Monday after a long illness. As the lady was being borne from the church to the grave a groan was heard in the coffin. The frightened pallbearers hastily dropped the casket. The lid was hastily taken off and the woman. wild-eyed and paralyzed from fright, sat up. Women screamed and fainted and men became excited. The woman was carried into the church and a physician sent for. Before he arrived the woman started to her feet and fell back dead. The physician on arrival pronounced her dead and she was at once buried. There is much excitement in the neighborhood. Many believe the woman should not have been buried.

Killed His Best Friend.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., May 18.—A fatal accident by which Charles Riggs, a popular young man of this city, and a book-keeper in the firm of Kennedy, Spaulding & Co., met his death, occurred about 4 o'clock this morning, in a boarding-house located at No. 301 North Clinton street. It was another one of those cases commonly nominated as "didn't know it was loaded." The man at whose hands Riggs met his death is Robert E. Drake, of the law firm of McFarran & Drake, excise commissioner and vice-president of the Worden Manufactur-ing Company, of this city. Drake was Riggs's closest friend. Both were young and hilarious. A rifle was discharged during the frolic, killing Riggs.

Prize Fighting at Cleveland. CLEVELAND, O., May 18.—A large crowd witnessed the six-round glove contest last The Quicksand Proved Fatal.

New York, May 18.—James H. Parcells, night dispatcher in the New York postoffice, was killed by the caving in of a well on his place at Woodside, Long Island, yesterday. Mr. Parcells was repairing the well when it partially caved in, burying him nearly to the neck. The quicksand continued to run down, and the efforts of neighbors to extricate the unfortunate man were in vain.

Warren was in good condition, and weighed 121 pounds, while Foley was knocked over the ropes once, but staid the contest out. After the match Sam Eaton, a local feather-weight, challenged Warren to a finish fight, to take place within three weeks, each man to weigh 120 pounds. Warren accepted, and the men will meet to-morrow to sign articles. articles.

DISASTER AT HAVANA.

Burning Building Blown Up-Twenty-Four

People Killed and Over 100 Injured. HAVANA, May 18 .- At 11 o'clock last night a fire broke out in Ysasi's hardware store. In a short time the " mes reached a barrel of powder in the building and a terrific explosion followed. The whole structure was blown to pieces and twentyfour persons were killed. Among the dead are four fire chiefs, Senors Mussel Sensoviech, Oscar Conill, Francesco Ordonez, and the Venezuelan consul, Senor Francesco Silva, who happened to be in front of the building at the time of the explosion. In addition to the killed, over one hundred persons are injured. The explosion caused the wildest excitement throughout the city, and thousands flocked to the scene of the disaster. The Governor-general, the Civil Governor and principal authorities of the city were promptly on the ground and did everything in their power to aid the injured and calm the grief-stricken relatives of the victims. Several houses adjacent to the wrecked building were damaged by the explosion.

Gangs of men are at work on the debris. Many human limbs have been taken from the ruins. The relatives of missing persons supposed to be in the ruins are gathered on the spot, and as the bodies are brought out the scenes are most distressing. The conduct of the authorities is the subject of universal praise. The highest officials have incurred personal risk in conducting the search for the dead and have offered the use of their own carriages to convey the injured to the hospitals. Ysasi, the proprietor of the wrecked hardware store, has been arrested.

It is feared that there are several more victims in the ruins. Over the theaters and Chamber of Commerce, and many other buildings flags are hanging at halfmast. Everywhere are signs of mourning. Up to the present time the number of the dead is thirty-four.

LEOPOLD WAS ALARMED.

Real Reason of His Trip to London-England Will Protect Belgium in Case of War.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. LONDON, May 18.—The visit of the King of the Belgians to London proves to have been not solely for the purpose of attending the unveiling of the Prince Consort's statue at Windsor, though that was its only ostensible object. It is developed by a close inquiry in circles best informed diplomatically, that King Leopold is anxious in regard to the continued independence and autonomy of Belgium. He believes that war between Germany and France is imminent, and he fears that in the general alteration of the map of Europe that will follow, Belgium will be absorbed by her big neighbor on the east unless she can find strong friends to support her claims to continued independence. England's influence has more than once been thrown on Belgium's side when questions of Germanistic pretensions in that direction have been at issue, and King | three bishops will receive cardinal's hats. Leopold's real reason for visiting London at this time was that he desired a personal assurance from Lord Salisbury that England would guarantee Belgium's neutral position in case of a Franco-German war. An interview was had, accordingly, and the desired assurance was given. There is no doubt that England would go to any length required in order to prevent such an increase of German territory and power as would be involved in the acquisition of either Belgium or Holland, toward both of which countries the German statesmen are | to The Italian Crown Prince will arrive at suspected of constantly casting greedy

The recent meeting of Lord Salisbury and Mr. Gladstone at dinner, at the Grand Hotel, was, furthermore, arranged for the purpose of making Mr. Gladstone acquainted with this renewal of the understanding between England and Belgium, as to a guarantee of the latter's position of neutralisy in case of war. It is part of the unwritten law of British statesmanship that the leader of the opposition shall be made acquainted with the salient features of the government's foreign policy, and the present instance furnishes an illustration of King Leopold also visited Mr. Gladstone on Wednesday, and had a long conversa-tion with him. The result of the King's trip to England, it is believed, will prove to have had a highly beneficial effect upon the future position of his country.

FRENCH FINANCIAL SCANDALS. Condition of the Credit Foncier-How Sec-

Christoph, governor of the Credit Foncier, who was accused of gross mismanagement by a subordinate. has strengthened his position by proofs of the solid prosperity of the Credit Foncier since he was appointed governor in 1877. He states that under his management the dividends have been raised from 12f to 63f. and that the company now holds stocks to 258,000,000 francs, of which 180,000,000 francs are in the treasury bonds and 70,000,000 francs in rentes. At the trial of the chiefs in the copper syndicate it has been proved that M. Secretan, as director of the Societe des Metaux, distributed fictitious profits for 1887, and used improper means to bull copper, raising the price from under 1,000 francs per ton to over 2,000, and clearing. within two months, 10,000,000 francs. He also testified that the board rarely listened to the manager's reports, and let things slide.

BISMARCK TALKS TO A FRENCHMAN. Thinks He's Too Young to Be Idle-Germany

Never Likely to Attack France, Paris, May 18.—The Matin publishes an account of an interview had with the French journalist, Des Soux, who recently spent a few days at Friedrichsruhe, and was entertained at dinner by Prince Bismarck. The conversation was devoted principally to political reminiscences. Prince Bismarck referred to his resignation reminiscences commissioners provide a feast for the Incoma.

He had been forced to retire at seventy, but he was too young to do nothing. He was accustomed to politics, and now felt the lack of political business. His resignation was absolutely final. He defended himself against the charge of barbarity in having caused the bombardment of Paris.

He declared that Germany would never attack France nor provoke France to attack her. Germany well understood that Russia would intervene to protect France if attacked, just as Germany would aid Austria if Russia attacked her. He professed high admiration for President Carnot, M. GENERAL FOREIGN NEWS.

A Student Makes Love to the Queen England and Is Arrested as a Lunatic.

LONDON, May 18.-Queen Victoria, although over seventy years of age, has found favor in the amorous eyes of Alfred Carter, a young man who has been studying for the Wesleyan ministry. Carter, who is a Lancashire lad, went to Windsor, and failing to obtain an interview with the object of his affection, wrote her several loving letters proposing marriage. Sad to tell, the letters were handed to an unromantic and flint-hearted police inspector of the appropriate name of Savage, who found Carter wandering about the Windsor fields sighing the name of Victoria, and hauled him off to prison on the charge of being a lunatic.

Labor Agitation in France. Paris, May 18-The Paris delegates to the national Socialist conference of 1889 have decided to form a permanent committee to advance the eight-hour movement. Iowa Indian Chiefs Refuse to Do Business Because Their Stomachs Are Empty.

IOWA VILLAGE, I. T., May 18 .- The Cherokee commission, after having wandered around the Iowa reservation for twentyfour hours in futile search of the Iowa Village, were found yesterday morning by two Indian scouts sent out by the chiefs to discover what had become of the government's representatives, whom they had been awaiting for a day. The party arrived here at noon, and after dinner the conference with the chiefs of the tribe was begun. The Indians wanted to do all the talking, and for four hours explained their side of the case. When Commissioner Jerome attempted to set forth the government's of-fer, the Indians refused to listen. Medium Horse, the second chief spokesman for the PENNSYLVANIA MINE DISASTER.

Dangerous Fire Raging in the Neilson Shaft at Shamokin—Burial of Hartford Victims.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., May 18.-The Neilson shaft is on fire, having caught from the burning timbers of the breaker which was destroyed last Friday night. The lower levels are filled with gas. Twenty-five mules at the bottom are dead and nineteen on the top levels will probably be suffo-

At 10 P. M. the fire had assumed a serious aspect. The fire is known to be in No. 12 vein, at a depth of 1,000 feet, but its extent cannot be determined, as no one can visit that level and return alive. Smoke and foul air was noticed issuing from the air source of No. 12 at 4 P. M. The nineteen mules which were in the seven-hundred-and-fifty-foot level are dead. The breaker fire destroyed the boilers and one fan. To-day steam facilities were obtained and a fan started to ventilate the mine, but failed to drive out the gas in the upper level. The mine is making gas fast, and serious explosions will occur if it reaches the fire. Late to-night it was decided to turn the Carbon run creek into the shaft and drown out the fire. It will take thirty six hours to turn the creek and take thirty-six hours to turn the creek, and if the fire is in the locality which the mine foreman thinks it is, it will be three or four days before the water will reach the fire.
The gas and fire is so dangerous that every precaution is being taken to prevent loss of life.

The burgess of Ashley has issued an appeal to-day for aid from the charitable public for the families of the miners killed in the disaster at No. 4 slope of the Hartford mine. They solicit contributions of food, clothing and money, which may be sent to R. Thomas, burgess; Martin Dooley, president of the borough council, or E. Lindarmyth treasurer at Ashley Luzerna. At Wilkesbarre the funerals of a number of the victims of the Hartford mine disaster took place this afternoon. YOUNG PRINCE YTURBIDE.

Cause of His Present Imprisonment—The Mat ter Not Regarded as Serious.

CITY OF MEXICO, May 18 .- Mexican papers are giving undue importance to the Yturbide incident. Yturbide is a young man, a grandson of the Emperor of the same name, and is now a second lieutenant in a cavalry regiment, with no official standing, though he has some money, which enables him to make frequent trips to the United States. Durthe last trip he is reported to have said that he represented the Con-servative party. The local press took up the matter, when he, boy-like, to set matters straight rushed into print, publishing a letter in El Tempo newspaper, in which he criticised the government, the Liberal party and also President Diaz, who is commander-in-chief of the army, and for this he was arrested and sent to the Tlaltalolco Military Prison, where he is undergoing a trial for complaining against a superior officer. The authorities attach little importance to the affair, though they are inquiring to ascertain whether he was instigated by others. So far, however, it appears that he wrote the impudent letter without consulting any one, and therefore the government is inclined to deal lemently with him, particularly as he claims that his ideas are purely republican, and that he never dreamed of monarchy.

Contract Laborers Stopped. NEW YORK, May 18.-Fifteen Russian Poles were detained at the barge office yesterday. They were bound for Connellsville. Pa., under contract to work in the mines there. The brother of the owner of the mine where they were to work was with them and was also detained. It is probable that a civil suit will be brought against him. CARLISLE ON THE TARIFF.

He Will Make the Speech of His Life on the McKinley Bill Next Wednesday.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. Washington, May 18.-Ex-Speaker and Senator-elect Carlisle expects to make the tariff speech of his life in the House before the previous question is called at noon on Wednesday. He would present his credentials as Senator Beck's successor tomorrow, and not appear in the lower body of Congress again were it not for this fact. debate at the last moment. He will be given unlimited time, and his parting shot at the protectionists is expected to contain some advice to his side of the House as to the course to be pursued in the future on the subject of the tariff. It is believed that Senator Carlisle will be given Senator Beck's place on the committee on finance, where he will have the opportunity to continue his free-trade work, and when the bill comes before the Senate he will be looked to by his side of the chamber as the leader in the discussion, for the Democratic side of the Senate is as lame on the subject of the tariff as is the same section of the House of Representatives. While the Democratic wings in the House will flap together hereafter, they will flap recklessly for free trade, and un-der the leadership of more than a dozen soidisant leaders. MR. OWEN'S TARIFF IDEAS.

He Will Offer Several Amendments to the McKinley Bill.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. WASHINGTON, May 18.-Representative Owen, of Indiana, intends to offer some very important amendments to the McKinley tariff bill. One of them will strike out all of the proposed reduction of the revenue on tobacco except the proposed abolition of the license for retailers. Another will put lumber and salt upon the free list. Still another amendment will empower the Secretary of the Treasury to revoke the tariff on any article upon which a trust or monopoly is formed at any time, thus making it possible to prevent an unfair rise in the prices of articles of every-day consumption. Mr. Owen says that this may be giving large power to the Secretary of the Treasury, but he does not see how it is possible to prevent monopolies and "bull" movements of the market unless we place confidence and power in the hands of our officials, as the conditions are continually changing, and if any article should be specified in a bill, or any circumstance described by which the law would prohibit a "corner," or a monopoly, or a trust, it would be easy, as experience has taught, to change the conditions and avert the operations of the law. Public sentiment and careful scrutiny, he thinks, would always prevent the improper exercise of this discretionary power by any officer of the government. Demands of Cigar Manufacturers.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. WASHINGTON, May 18.-Key West, Fla., is represented here by a number of rustling cigar makers who want the duty increased on manufactured cigars and decreased on the raw material from which cigars are made. They claim the importation of cigars will be augmented under this bill. A tax of $2 per pound is placed on wrappers, while fillers are taxed 40 cents. If a package of fillers is found to contain a single leaf of wrappers the whole is taxed at $2 per pound, and this radical discrimination is considered too harsh by them. Key West employs 10,000 cigarmakers. They may win

Silver the Chief Topic in the Senate, While the House Will Be Busy with the Tariff. WASHINGTON, May 18 .- Silver will be the principal topic of discussion in the Senate again this week. Senator Stewart has given notice of his purpose to address the Senate on this subject Wednesday. The addresses in memoriam of the late Representative W.D. Kelley of Pennsylvania, will be delivered on Tuesday afternoon, and Saturday will be devoted to the calendar. These are the only probable interruptions of the silver debate. The naval appropriation bill will, it is expected, be reported early in the week, but it will not be called up for action until the silver question has been disposed of. If the finance committee can find suitable opportunity, the tariff bill will be taken up in committee for consideration, so that an early report may be made thereon to the Senate; but as the members of that committee are all more or less in-terested in the silver debate, it is doubtful if any progress will be made on the tariff until after the silver bill is out of the way. The first three days of the week in the House will witness the closing scenes in the tariff debate, which promises to become more animated as the end draws near. It is the present intention of the ways and means committee to report the bill feom the committee of the whole to the House Wednesday, when yes and nay votes, depending in number upon the number of amendments made to the bill, will be in order. The wool sections are to be the subject of attack in this way, and altogether the proceedings promise to consume considerable time unless a special rule is reported from the committee on rules to hasten the conclusion. The elections committee intends to call up the Alabama con-tested election case of McDuffie vs. Turpin immediately after the tariff bill is disposed of. As the the report of the committee in favor the contestant involves the inversion of an apparent majority of eight thousand, a bitter resistance is apt to be developed. The river and harbor people are also waiting the first opportunity to call up their appropriation bill and get it through the BALTIMORE, May 18.—The national Con-ference of Charities and Correction, Dr. Byers says, has been a decided success, both in the number in attendance and the character of the papers read, and from all appearances bids fair to so continue to the close. The usual Sunday sermon, by Archdeacon Alexander McKay Smith, D. D., of New York, was largely attended.
